

Conflict Integration – Dennis

I was having a very difficult time internally coming to grips between, what I thought were, 2 opposing decisions. I felt that if I made either one, I would jeopardize the other. All I could see was the conflict between them. After going through Conflict Integration, I had a great peace come over me. I finally saw that what both of them ultimately wanted was the exact same thing. At that moment in time, it did not matter which decision I made, I would ultimately get what I wanted; peace. Either way I would come out ahead.
